EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

The Adoption Assistance and Child Welfare Act of 1980 (Public Law [PL] 96-272) was enacted on June 17, 1980 to improve publicly supported child welfare and foster care programs. The objective of PL 96-272 was to achieve three major goals:

- o Prevention of unnecessary separation of children from their parents.
- o Improved quality of care and services to children and their families.
- o Permanence through reunification with parents, adoption or other permanent placement.

The California Legislature voted in 1982 to implement PL 96-272 when it passed Senate Bill (SB) 14 (Presley—Chapter 978, Statutes of 1982). The state agency responsible for implementing the provisions of SB 14 is the California Department of Social Services (CDSS), which supervises the administration of Child Welfare Services (CWS) by the county welfare departments.

Effective July 1, 1993, new regulations implemented SB 1125 (Chapter 1203, Statutes of 1991), amending child welfare services statutes to eliminate the four program designations (Emergency Response, Family Maintenance, Family Reunification and Permanent Placement). Child welfare services provided on behalf of each child now represent a continuum of services, including emergency response, family preservation, family maintenance, family reunification, and permanent placement services. The individual child's case plan is the guiding principle in the provision of these services. A case plan is to be developed within 30 days of the initial removal of the child or of the in-person response required under subdivision (f) of Section 16501 of the Welfare & Institutions Code (WIC), if the child has not been removed from his or her home, or by the date of the jurisdictional hearing pursuant to WIC Section 356, whichever comes first.

The total number of emergency response dispositions increased 4% from Calendar Year 1994. The number of emergency response assessment cases which were closed, transferred or determined inappropriate for an in-person response increased by 8%. As for the cases in which emergency response services were provided, the number of cases increased by 10,275 or 3% from Calendar Year 1994. General neglect became the number one reason for emergency response in Calendar Year 1995 by increasing 7%. Physical and sexual abuse were the number two and three reasons for emergency response, however, sexual abuse actually decreased by 2%.

DEFINITION OF TERMS USED IN THIS REPORT

Caretaker Absence or Incapacity - The absence of the caretaker due to hospitalization, incarceration, or death; incapacity of the caretaker to provide adequate care for the child due to physical or emotional illness, disabling condition, or compulsive use of alcohol or narcotics.

Emergency Response Assessment - An assessment of an emergency response referral conducted by a social worker skilled in emergency response for the purpose of determining whether an in-person investigation is required.

Emergency Response In-person Investigation - A face-to-face response by a social worker skilled in emergency response for the purpose of determining the potential for or the existence of any condition(s) which places the child or any other child in the household at risk and in need of services which would cause the child to become a dependent of the juvenile court.

Emergency Response Referral - A referral that alleges child abuse, neglect, or exploitation as defined by Penal Code Section 11165 et seq. and Division 31 regulations. An emergency response referral does not include inappropriate inquiries such as those regarding aid payments, Medi-Cal cards, etc.

Emergency Response Services - A response system providing in-person response, 24 hours a day, seven days a week, to reports of abuse, neglect, or exploitation, to determine the necessity for providing initial intake services and crisis intervention to maintain the child safely in his or her own home or to protect the safety of the child. County welfare departments respond to reports of imminent danger to a child immediately and all other reports within 10 calendar days. An in-person response is not required when the county welfare department, based upon an evaluation of risk, determines that an in-person response is not appropriate. This evaluation includes collateral, contacts, a review of previous referrals, and other relevant information, as indicated.

Emotional Abuse - Nonphysical mistreatment, the results of which may be characterized by disturbed behavior on the part of the child such as severe withdrawal, regression, bizarre behavior, hyperactivity or dangerous acting-out behavior. Such disturbed behavior is not deemed, in and of itself, to be evidence of emotional abuse. Emotional abuse includes willfully causing or permitting any child to suffer, inflicting mental suffering, or endangering a child's emotional well-being.

Exploitation - The act of forcing or coercing a child into performing activities for the benefit of the caretaker (defined as the parent or guardian) which are beyond the child's capabilities or which are illegal or degrading. This term also includes sexual exploitation.

Family Maintenance Services - Activities designed to provide in home protective services to prevent or remedy neglect, abuse, or exploitation, for the purposes of preventing separation of children from their families.

Family Preservation Services - Intensive services for families whose children, without these services, would be subject to any of the following: at imminent risk of out-of-home placement; remain in existing out-of-home placement for longer periods of time; or be placed in a more restrictive out-of-home placement.

Family Reunification Services - Activities designed to provide time-limited foster care services to prevent or remedy neglect, abuse, or exploitation, when the child cannot safely remain at home, and needs temporary foster care, while services are provided to reunite the family.

General Neglect - The negligent failure of a parent/guardian or caretaker to provide adequate food, clothing, shelter, or supervision where no physical injury to the child has occurred.

Permanent Placement Services - Activities designed to provide an alternate permanent family structure for children who because of abuse, neglect, or exploitation cannot safely remain at home and who are unlikely to ever return home. These services shall be provided on behalf of children for whom there has been a judicial determination of a permanent plan for adoption, legal guardianship, or long-term foster care.

Physical Abuse - A bodily injury which has been or is being inflicted by other than accidental means on a child by a parent/guardian or other person. Physical abuse includes, but is not limited to, willful cruelty, unjustifiable punishment, or corporal punishment/injury to a child.

Severe Neglect - The negligent failure of a parent/guardian or caretaker to protect the child from severe malnutrition or medically diagnosed nonorganic failure to thrive. "Severe neglect" also means those situations of neglect where any parent/guardian or caretaker of a child willfully causes or allows the child to be placed in a situation where his/her person or health is endangered. This would include, but not be limited to intentional failure to provide necessary medical care, adequate food, clothing or shelter.

Sexual Abuse - The victimization of a child by sexual activities. These activities include, but are not limited to, molestation, indecent exposure, fondling, rape, and incest.

PREPLACEMENT PREVENTIVE SERVICES FOR CHILDREN IN CALIFORNIA

In California, services provided on behalf of children alleged to be the victims of abuse, neglect, or exploitation, are provided through child welfare services. Emergency response, family maintenance, family preservation, family reunification, permanent placement services represent a continuum of these services. Emergency response and family maintenance services are designed to help children remain with their families by preventing or eliminating the need for removing the child from the home.

Emergency Response Services

The emergency response system provides immediate in-person response, 24 hours a day, seven days a week to reports of abuse, neglect, or exploitation. This service, provided without regard to income, is the initial intake point for all child welfare service programs. Each of the 58 county welfare departments is responsible for providing emergency response services and ensuring that appropriate action is taken on all allegations of neglect, exploitation or abuse of children. They also provide for a face-to-face contact between the social worker and the child, and a timely disposition of the case based upon the best interests of the child.

Objective: To provide initial intake services and crisis intervention to maintain the child safely in his or her own home or to protect the safety of the child by removing the child, if the child cannot safely remain in the home.

Family Maintenance Services

This system provides time-limited protective services to prevent or remedy neglect, abuse, or exploitation while the child remains in his or her home. Families can be ordered by the court to participate in services or they may do so voluntarily. Family maintenance services are limited to six months, but may be extended for one six-month period when it can be shown that the objectives of the service plan can be achieved within the extended time period. For court dependent children, court reviews are conducted at least every six months.

Objective: To prevent the separation of children from their families and to reduce the need for foster care placements.

Note:

The statistical information in this publication is based on reports submitted by the counties on Form SOC 291, Preplacement Preventive Services Monthly Statistical Report on Emergency Response and Family Maintenance Program Activity.

Information describing children receiving Family Reunification or Permanent Placement services, commonly referred to as Foster Care, is available from the Foster Care Information System located within the Information Services Bureau in the California Department of Social Services.
